PLATO Science Conference

The PLATO Science Conference was held in Taormina near Catania, Sicily from 3-5 December 2014. With such dramatic scenery and with 130 registered participants, it was always destined to be exciting and lively event (despite the circulating colds/flu)! Spread over 6 sessions and 3 days and covering all aspects of exoplanetary and stellar science. Most of the talks, as well as the conference picture gallery, are available online from:
